THE GODDESS ATHENA AND ARACHNE

 MINOAS
EDITIONS

A girl who had an unmatched talent
for weaving once lived in a small village.
Her name was Arachne.

Her skill was so renowned that even the Nymphs would leave their rivers to witness her beautiful creations.
But who are the Nymphs?

Nymphs are fairy-like girls who live in the woods and serve the goddess Artemis. Beautiful as they all are, they run and play beside streams because they love water and are its protectors.

Their name means "she who hides behind a veil."

Their veils are unique because divine hands made them. Nonetheless, Arachne's creations are just as beautiful.
